Wide Awake Local Anesthesia No Tourniquet

OFFICE PROCEDURES

THURSDAY, MAY 14, 2026 - 6 PM REGISTRATION
NHOC, LONDONDERRY, NH

Wide Awake Local Anesthesia No Tourniquet (WALANT) is a surgical technique that allows many hand and wrist procedures to be safely performed in an office setting using local anesthesia without sedation or a tourniquet. Patients remain awake, enabling surgeons to assess movement and function during the procedure while reducing anesthesia-related risks. WALANT improves efficiency, lowers costs, minimizes preoperative requirements, and shortens recovery time, creating a safe, convenient, and patient-centered alternative to traditional operating room surgery.
